HGS

Head Boy & Head Girl

HALIFAX GRAMMAR SCHOOL

When I came to the Halifax Grammar School in Primary, I did not know what to expect or what lay ahead of me. After almost thirteen years at the school (the majority of my life) I have had many challenging and wonderful experiences. In my final year I am honoured that I can represent the student body as H.G.S.'s first Head Girl, and with the Student Council lead the school into the new millennium. The year 2000 will build on the past and introduce new traditions to embrace a dynamic and exciting future. I look forward to working with fellow Student Council members, staff, alumni and all of the student body.

-Lizze Dodds, Head Girl

"Do not follow where the path may lead, go instead where there is no path and leave a trail." -Unknown

I came to Grammar at the start of grade eleven but I quickly came to love two things,

1. I never had to lock my locker or fear for the safety of its contents... unless Fraser forgot a lunch
2. The wonderful ventilation system that kept every room at a cool, reasonable temperature.

To present and future Grammar students I have a simple message. Recognise that Grammar has much to offer and will teach you many things. Anything else you need to know you can learn by watching "The Simpsons".

Christine Apold: AKA McCain, Manhands, Shania

Christine has been a very prominent member of the grade 12 class since her arrival in grade 10. Christine is a very opinionated person who had managed to get into many fiery debates over her years at Grammar. Unfortunately for Christine, she lacks the physical coordination to play team sports and has therefore been limited to the tennis team. Christine also rushes to the barn everyday after school...to ride her horse of course, and in her spare time she vents her anger by taking kickboxing classes. Christine is a very successful student yet after finishing her studies at MIT she would like to pursue a career as a salsa dancer. Christine has been a source of great humor, whether it be drooling over a certain country singer, showing up late every single day, or her violent tendencies. We were also quite thankful when she had her mouth wired shut because we had a week of peace and quiet. Christine is also a member of the underprivileged society at Grammar because she is forced to drive substandard vehicles and live in a shack. Christine will lead a very successful life and will be greatly missed (along with her mother's famous bagel sandwiches) and always remember to watch out for parked cars.

Nikolai Beeby:

Nikolai came to HGS in grade 9, and has never failed to have a good time since. Known to be a gifted writer, he has won multiple awards for his creative short stories. Involved in several HGS play productions, his theatrical representation of "Box & Cox" (which he did with that nerd Bart) was certainly one of the most entertaining and hilarious plays in the school's history. Not one to solely dabble in the arts, Nikolai is also quite an accomplished fencer, making the Canada Games and more recently receiving his coaching certification. Future plans point to Sheridan, where he hopes to pursue a career in animation. Beyond that an interest in Japanese culture will most likely draw Nikolai to a land far East, where the cars are small and there's no need to defend your love of cartoons (the kind that involve big people getting hurt by bigger people). Good luck Nikolai, wherever your life takes you.

"I hate quotations" – Ralph Waldo Emerson

"Maybe aomebas weren't meant to ride motorcycles" -Akira

James Bryson:

James Bryson entered the crew in grade 5, the Gil crew. He was quickly embraced by all and was soon the model Grammar boy. Since grade 5 James has participated in nearly every sport and has been an un-replacable player on all teams. When James wasn't finding his true love he was the Head Prefect, an avid camper and a member of the model UN. James will make an excellent lawyer or priest who will dominate a men's B-Ball league. Although he will not still be able to dunk contrary to what he says "next year, next year." James may also have a promising career as a travel agent, as he has demonstrated great skill in organizing low budget excursions around the country. Good luck James and don't let George touch you there.

"I am" –God

"Sky is the limit so we are all bound to break through the stratus." –Rascalz

Jacob Cookey:

Jacob Cookey arrived at HGS and asked: "what's goin' on here anyway?" Jacob would find out what was going on and he would do it. Jacob was arguably the most talented athlete at the Grammar school, excelling at: soccer and hockey where he score countless numbers of goals however he was the downfall of the badminton team (those who have seen him play will know this to be impossible.). Jacob was also an outstanding academic and a perennial member of the elite honor roll. Jacob would also become known for his excellent taste in music, while he would chauffeur you in his silver bullet of a Volvo. Jacob was also famous for his excellent jewelry collection that his mother would update for him and his quick witted mumbling retorts to questions you thought were fairly basic. Jacob was never defeated in a Royal Rumble and like his victories in life - Jacob will never lose holla if ya hear me Cookey.

"Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's" – New Testament, Matthew, XXII, 21

"Do not live your life expecting great things to happen, because great things happen unexpectedly" – Jacob Cookey

"Only god can judge me" –Tupac Shakur

Adam Digby:

The problem with hanging out with Diggs is that he immediately attracts the attention of any nearby girls. Fortunately most girls soon "smell what the Rock is cooking" and steer clear. Every now and then he persuades one to take an "excursion into nature!" Don't ever let anyone wipe that happy-go-lucky grin off your face! HOLLA HOLLA

Elizabeth Dodds:

From primary, Lizzie the little girl, to grade 12 as the head girl, Lizzie, often called Elizabeth affectionately by those close to her, has overcome seemingly infinite number of obstacles at HGS and hit every door frame along the way. Lizzie has been an active member in the school since Primary including her consistent participation on all the sports teams especially for the soccer team where she would endure countless career ending injuries, (how are the invisible bruises healing Elizabeth?). Lizzie was also one of the more generous students in the school donating her time to Amnesty International and she was often involved in student council highlighted by becoming the first head girl ever at HGS a well deserved position after of years of loyalty to the student body. Lizzie was also a very studious young lady, renown for her consistent hardworking performance in the classroom, she became the class provider for all of those who missed yesterdays notes. Despite all her accomplishments, Lizzie will be most remembered for her smile and kindness that would light up the hallways. Elizabeth will be sorely missed by staff and students and we suspect that whatever she does she will be lighting up the faces of those who come to know her, good luck babe.

"I am only one; but still I am one. I cannot do everything, but still I can do something."
–Helen Keller

Jenna Darling:

All the way from Prospect Village (no where close to Terrance Bay), Jenna came to HGS in grade 10. Her brains, athletic ability and 'unique' talents have made her an unforgettable member of our class. Jenna will go down as one of the very few people who can quote the entire 'Clueless' and 'Empire Records' movies, watch countless hours of Party of Five, Buffy, Dawson's Creek and Felicity and still have the intelligence to get the IB diploma. It will be hard to forget Jenna's sporadic outbreaks of dancing in the halls, her moldy lunch, fruit fly experiment in her locker and her motto for good work – 'procrastination'. She is never difficult to spot on the soccer field, those flailing arms and all, and has also been able to prove that it IS possible to eat your body weight and sugar and still be in fine athletic shape. (We believe this is how she has the energy to swim 18 hours a week). It is always a pleasure to travel with Jenna (despite Rothesay '97) as she always makes hotel rooms feel like home. Her desire to shop has lead to $2 installments and then that whole customs thing coming back from Boston. (Why are you doing this to me?) Piece of advice for the future: always read your arms when you wake up in Quebec. Don't forget her desire for a tan, her spandex, her squeaky laugh, hairy legs, and her attempts at being a surfer... "But...whatever." Jenna will definitely excel at whatever she does because as she always says, "Don't worry, I'm a lifeguard!" Good luck Jenna we'll miss you!

Gill Fenton:

When Gill came to HGS in grade 10 she was a quiet girl who spent her time dancing, playing volleyball and soccer and wishing that she could play football. Gill is still interested in all of these things; however, she is not so quiet anymore. Over the past few years she has found her wild side. This became known when she arrived in September of '99 with a tattoo of a blue dragonfly on herself (I am not at liberty to say where!) Gill originally hails from Ottawa, where she will be bound for again when the year is over. So if you are even in the area watch out because in a few years she will most likely be OPP.

Lindsay Fenton:

Lindsay came to us to us in grade 10 from Gorsebrook Junior High. From that day on, she has adapted to the Grammar school way of life. At first she was the quiet one, but we soon got to know her (Quebec). She livens up the halls with her smile and her stories (Mmm). She is an amazing athlete who won rookie of the year in grade 10. She has played on virtually every school team including soccer, basketball, volleyball, badminton and her latest accomplishment is track. (Just don't look back...). Her determination has allowed for constant improvement. Lindsay has also excelled at school making the honor roll and achieving overall good grades. Lindsay is a well-rounded person who will go far, whether she becomes a physiotherapist or not. Just don't give up!!!!

"The pattern of life isn't a straight line; it crosses and re-crosses, drawing in and tying together other lives." –From 'Misses Mike' by Nancy and Benedict Freedman

Jill Filiter:

Jill came to Halifax Grammar School in grade eleven, bringing her bright and cheerful personality with her. She easily adjusted to life at Grammar and soon joined the Upper School choir. She was also a cast member in the school's musical. In her second year she was selected as a prefect for the Student Council. Outside of school, Jill rows and scuba dives, as well as spending a lot of her time at Dalplex. Since moving to Halifax, she spends a lot of her free time volunteering. Being the social butterfly that she is, she's always with her friends, occasionally going for pizza...She also is found shopping for um...at The Gap. We're going to miss your quirky, but cheerful ways, Jill!

"Dream as if you'll live forever. Live as if you'll die today." – James Dean

Andrew Fraser Maclean:

Take your mother's maiden name and imagine this is what you were permanently called, well such is Fraser's situation and Fraser (pronounced Fray-sure not Fray-zer as in common practice) loves every minute of it. Andrew Fraser Maclean is by far the presence one in most likely to notice at HGS. This CPP enjoys GTP (parents and teachers don't ask you don't want to know) and is notorious for his expertise's which include; the outdoors, security, unpredictability and the ability to run a government as the VP for operations. Fraser had put his operating skills to many uses including his smooth operating techniques on the femininas. Fraser became known for mowing down those in his way, whether it be on the field, court, classroom or hallways and it is for this reason we feel success will reach him as much as it may try to get out of the way.

Bartholomew Farrow:

Although famed for submissiveness, Bartholomew's continual resistance to the school uniform policy became quickly well known. From grade five, when he entered the school as an eight-year-old scholastic nerd, he has progressed into a sixteen-year-old scholastic nerd. Armed with hockey shoulder pads he played the 'bulky' Russian ballet teacher Boris Kholenkob in the school play "You Can't Take it with You," in grade nine. He evolved into the 'witty' and 'sophisticated' hatter, Cox, in the third person production "Box and Cox", in grade ten. Since then, his life has been almost totally uneventful.

"I try to be uniformly polite." –B.F.

Amy Gibson:

Amy brought a friendly and loveable personality with her when she came to HGS in grade 10 from the middle of nowhere- a.k.a. New Germany. She has made an impact on our school's athletics, playing on both the soccer and volleyball teams. Amy has also been a cast member of the HGS musical. In spite of her busy schedule, which includes dancing, volunteering, playing piano and maintaining her social life, Amy has managed to attend most classes. Always, well... usually with a good sense of humor she takes life in stride and lives for the moment because, "Now and then it's good to pause in our pursuit of happiness and just be happy" –Guillaume Apollinaire

We have had a lot of laughs. HGS wouldn't have been the same without Amy's humor and light-hearted attitude gracing its halls...or the streets of Quebec City...we will miss you! (So will my neighbors...miss striptease!)

Sarah Goldberg:

After surviving her first day at HGS in grade nine (woof! woof!) we didn't see much of Sarah until our grade ten trip to Boston where she became "down with us". Even though she never sat with us in math class (saving those seats for Spanky, Shoo-Shoo, and Beth?!) she could never go somewhere without making a new friend, a welcoming smile always on her face. This smile carried her all the way from the pool decks of Dalplex where she taught swimming and synchro to the hot desert in Israel – where she found a cure for all that ailed her. Sarah has been a key member of the class whether it be in the prep school where she can hardly walk down the hall without a fierce hug by one of the kids or in the senior school where she showed her school spirit by being a House Captain. Sarah we love you and know you will succeed in wherever life takes you. One tip for the future: watch out for the big black thing that covers the sun every once and awhile.

"You're never fully dressed without a smile" –Martin Charnin, from "Annie"

Jamie Gregor:

My first memory of Jamie dates back to our early indoctrination as Francophones at 'L'Ecole Beaufort.' He was a crazy, eccentric seven-year-old, and believe you me, not much has changed. Jamie's penchant for opposites, his fine dining and his left-winging, his early morning HGS grimaces and supernova ecstasies, and his love for both classy foreign cities and rickety Big Cove cabins, brought an unpredictable flair into the lives of those around him. I look forward to seeing Jamie placed in the company of the great writers he so admires. That is, if he does not pursue his other dream of becoming the editor of the New York Times...cross-word puzzle. Jamie, I hope one day we'll meet again our dissolute Toronto lady-friend: "Oh kids, keep reading Baudelaire..." –C.R.

"Anyone who cannot cope with life while he is alive needs one hand to ward off a little of his despair over his fate...but with his other hand he can jot down what he sees among the ruins, for he sees different and more things than the others; after all, he is dead in his own lifetime, and the real survivor." –Franz Kafka, Diaries

Arthur Harrison:

...And so the story goes on. The female cop was frisking me, when she got down there, she was like, "Whoa this guy's got a gun in his pants." Anyway, enough about me, maybe just a little more, but I'll make it short...zzzzz...alright, the people in my head are scaring me. Ah, get them out, no! Sports suck, yes you heard me. Favorite pastime is sitting at home and watching sports, while my butt gets fatter! I have no role models since everyone wants to be as good as me, making me the best at, well, everything. Also, cartoons and Star Wars, will never grow old.

"What are we gonna do tonight Brain? The same thing we do every night Pinky, try to take over the world!" –Pinky and the Brain

Rachel Khublall: AKA Bonehead

Rachel was also one of the new grade tens; she left Sacred Heart after just one extremely long and depressing year there. Rachel has participated on the soccer and basketball teams yet she is one of the laziest athletes you'll ever meet. Rachel is a very focused and diligent student; she spends most of her time studying; thus accounting for the fact that she has absolutely no social life. Rachel also exhibits several mental handicaps which can be explained by the amount of Timberlea water she drinks. Rachel is a sweet person who can never utter a harsh word against a fellow classmate...whatever. Rachel can generally be found running along the Grammar School halls after being attacked by fellow classmates. She was also sometimes shunned for being too American (it's pop, not soda). Rachel is also known for her superior dancing ability; she can always be found at the center of the dance floor. Rachel will be greatly missed but we all know that she will succeed in anything she does, and ohhh yeah don't ever forget the goats!

Mike Lawrence:

To be or not to be...Mike began his Grammar school existence in grade 6 and has been fighting assimilation ever since. Throughout these tumultuous six years he has experimented a wide array of political, economic, and philosophical persuasions. All in all it's certainly been an interesting ride. What lies in the future for Mike...That is the question.

"I only wanted to be sixteen, and free. (I wonder...) But I know that we can't all stay here forever, so I wanna write my words on the face of today...and then they'll paint it (keep on dreamin' boy cause when you stop dreamin' it's time to die)" –Shannon Hoon (Blind Melon)

"Do not try to bend the spoon, that's impossible, instead only try to realize the truth: there is no spoon. Then you'll see that it is not the spoon that bends, it is only yourself. (Temet Nosce)" –The Matrix

"I descend from grace/ in arms of undertow/ I will take my place/ in the great below/ and when the day arrives/ I'll become the sky/ and I'll become the sea/ and the sea will come to kiss me/ for I am going home/ (Nothing can stop me now)" –Trent Reznor

Ashleigh McKenna

When trying to find the words to describe Ashleigh too many come to mind. She has survived twelve long years, laughing, talking, crying, and laughing her way through them all. She has made it on the honour roll every year still finding time to practice to be the next Dennis Rodman on the HGS varsity basketball team. She has been a dedicated House Captain and a dedicated friend – always giving the best advice (remember the CO₂ baby?). She spent recent summers as a camp counsellor and lifeguarding the slippery slides of Playland (get rubber gloves for the first aid kit next time!). You can always pick out Ashleigh's sarcastic comments coming from the common room (comments most famously used on a certain Cape Bretoner). Ashleigh we love you and we know you will excel in whatever you put your heart to and even if you end up at an all girls university in New York at least your shopping opportunities won't be lacking.

"Never act in a certain way, for when all the acting is done, you will have forgotten who you really are." – Christopher Swift

"No day but today" – Jonathan Larson, from 'Rent'

Jason Meadows:

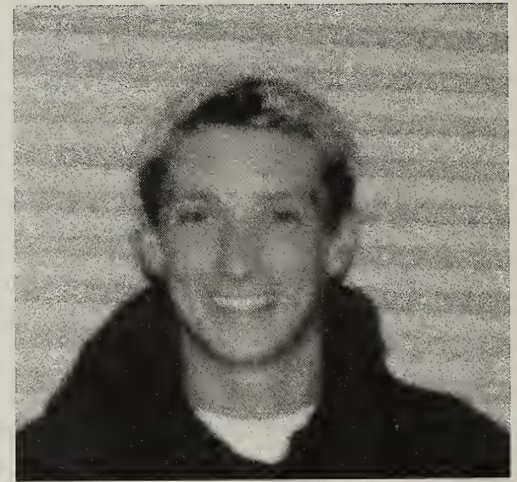

HGS was blessed with Jason's presence when he descended upon us in grade 10. He will always be remembered for his extensive wardrobe; being the only person in the world to own everything ever sold by the Gap. He is one of the more athletic people in the class. Aside from competitive swimming, he's an avid baseball player, cross-country runner, surfer, and break-dancer. When not at school, he's usually at the pool, at the beach or running his own taxi service. Whatever he does, he will surely succeed doing it. Good luck Burns.

"You can observe a lot just by watchin'." –Yogi Berra

"It ain't over till it's over." –Yogi Berra

Heather Michael: AKA Troll, Clipboard Lady, Tree

Heather came to HGS in grade 10, all the way from Armbrae Academy. Heather immediately became a very involved and enthusiastic member of the Grammar School "community". Heather has played on the soccer, volleyball, basketball, badminton and tennis teams; she has also participated on student council, the model UN and she is the school's house major. Heather also enjoys reading to the prep school and she makes a point of walking through the prep hallways at least once a day because it makes her feel tall. Heather is one of the grade 12 choir drop outs because, as she has demonstrated on many sports trips, she has absolutely no singing ability whatsoever and she is prone to shaking her head in a highly unusual fashion. Heather is also known for her spontaneous outbursts of the giggles and other unexplained phenomenon-like falling over benches. No matter when you see Heather, you can be sure she'll have two things; gum and her clipboard. Heather has been an excellent addition to the grade 12 class; she will be successful in anything she attempts, just as long as it doesn't depend on handwriting ability and she is able to wear her famous toe socks.

"If you're going to be able to look back on something and laugh about it, you might as well laugh about it now." –Marie Osmond

"Be kind, for everyone you meet is fighting a harder battle." –Plato

Jana Miller:

Jana came to our school from a yearlong stay in France in grade five. She has been with us ever since, except for her year abroad and interesting experiences in grade eleven. (Never forget those French guys Jana!). Even though she was quiet for her first six years at Grammar, she exploded back from France and made her presence known (getting reacquainted with the lush Nova Scotia forests?). She has succeeded in passing her National Lifeguarding, taking her skills all the way to New Brunswick where she was a camp counsellor. Her presence will be missed in the hallways of Grammar but we know she will fit in any hallways she chooses, whether it be at Acadia or abroad. We will miss you. Good Luck!

"A real friend is one who walks in when the rest of the world walks out." –Walter Windchell

Quynn Morehouse:

Quynn, 'Quynn timer', 'Quyndolyn', - or 'Blondie'...has always maintained a strong if not 'forceful' presence in the hallowed halls of good ol' 'glamour school' in her entire thirteen years. Quynn can be found working hard as a House Captain playing hard with her friends, and spending her summers travelling, snowboarding!, and lifeguarding out in the sun (and rain!). Despite maintaining a packed schedule Quynn has been a strong asset to Grammar sports (including practicing to be the next Dennis Rodman) – still managing to make it to Martock, where she taught snowboarding (while winning provincials in her 'spare' time). When not running around to keep on top of it all Quynn can be found buying hamsters (...and replacing them), giving friends advice (in flirtation 101), and spending whatever time is left over studying the social behaviour of Cape Bretoners. Wherever Quynn goes she will be successful – whether hitting the books in Wolfville or kicking butt at The Olympics! We love you.

"It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all." –Unknown

"You wanna?" – Archie MacDonald

Ikuko Negishi:

I'm glad I could spend my last two years of high school at Grammar School. Life at Grammar School will be one of my happy memories of Canada.

Julia Oland:

Julia traded in her fightin' Irish ways two years ago with aspirations of soaring like a Gryphon, but was soon grounded...However, this harsh academic shift did not dim her very distinct sparkle. She can often be seen indulging in take-out gourmet cuisine, pondering her endless cinematic visions and fantasizing about her Oscar speech (it's the 'Eurasian Invasion'!) Frequently found in the passenger speech of the "cruisemobile", Julia enjoyed following "the route" with scale and spending "fast times at Halifax High." Julia never refuses lonely old men (we mean hugs!) and takes no shame in talking to her foot (named Earl). Her Chinese, Swedish, and Lebanese heritage has added some well needed diversity to HGS. Many an evening has been spent on her porch, pondering human nature and dreams of French exchange students. As was so eloquently spoken from the knarled mouth of a US navel veteran: "Julia's beautiful, and there is nothing sweet about it!"

Craig Oliver:

Craig Oliver was an exceptional student with various exceptional extra-curricular activities. His ability to kill jokes will be greatly missed at the Grammar School. Always the most creative student in Art class, despite the level of his artistic skill. Always the captain on any team, his dedication to Grammar School sports was unparalleled to any, leading all scorers on the field and court, while managing to fit in being President of the Student Council in Grade 11. Outside of the school, you're likely to find Craig moving down a few inches on a lawn. Always doing his own thing, Craig's future is filled with opportunity. Good luck with all your innovative ideas Craig.

"She says he's just a friend." –The Diabolical Biz Markie

"I may not be a smart man but I know what love is." –Forrest Gump

Sarah Robertson:

The mist-capped mountains and secluded glens of Scotland have given rise to many a myth and legend. This, my friends, is one. Long ago and very far away, near the village of Auchterarder, there lived a fairy whose duty it was to care for a magic spring. Although she longed to venture forth and see more of the world, she was duty bound to remain on the British Isles. Stubbornly determined, she flew to the village and there found two children Sarah and Samantha. Touching each with her magic wand, she gave to them the duty of travelling far in the world, learning all they could so that one day they could return and tell her of what they had seen. Thus, my friends, the journeys of Sarah Robertson began. Since that fateful night she has indeed traveled far. She has sailed through the harbors of Hong Kong, braved the deserts of the Middle East, swum the barracudas of Florida, watched the sunrise over the razor backed Arizona Mountains, and stockpiled frequent flyer miles. On a breezy day four years past she set down in the city of Halifax; here has she remained. Known for her hyperactivity, impeccable handwriting, and love of video games (yay Soul Caliber!), she has been seen frequenting downtown coffee shops and movie theatres with her amigos, and loving sister/fellow traveler Sam. Love of soccer, cats, art, and Japanimation, Sarah possesses a multitude of talents...I have no doubt she will go far. Maybe someday she will return to that magic spring, where the fairy is eagerly awaiting her report.

"Don't be afraid of the future, it doesn't include you it only removes you...So, face forward with eyes open and mind reeling...your future has arrived. Are you ready to go?" –Powerman 5000

Jeff Romkey:

Jeff came to HGS in grade 11 from St. Petersburg, Florida. Jeff can be best remembered for his volleyball skills, his Jeep Cherokee, his gourmet lunches (that his mother made) and a good sense of humor. Although Jeff was not part of the Grammar "social" scene he became friends with most of the senior school. Wherever Jeff goes next year we all know he will do well. Good luck! Keep it real D-O-G.

Clare Ryan:

Before I met Clare my life was an arduous struggle. To walk, to talk, even to think rationally required so much effort: I was a toddler. And then, at the age of five, everything fell into place, and soon we were scampering down the streets of London. From the beginning, Clare has lived with incredible dedication to her passions (despite that Libertine-esque period in the mid nineties). This has come through most forcefully in her top marks and outstanding cellistic abilities. Her dedication to History can sometimes run away with her (Christmas Holidays: "Is that Karl Marx?!" "Um, Clare, that's Santa Claus...") Her frank and vivacious personality brings raucous laughter and great comfort into the lives of her friends. In the future, I hope to see Clare exploiting her cellistic technique for the cause of World Peace, or re-enacting the beheading of Anne Bolyn. Remember Clare, life conspires to be funny. -J.G.

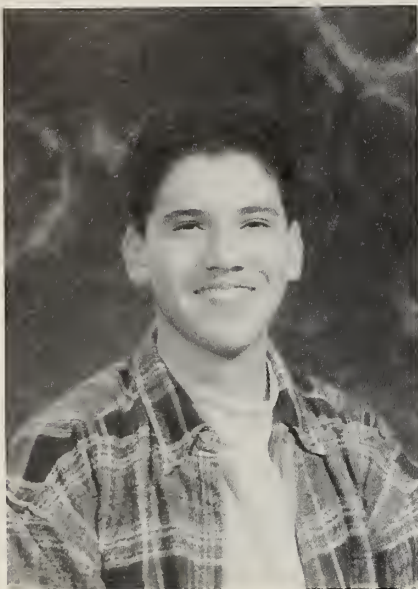

"The soul has no assignments." -Randall Sarrey

Alexandra Seay:

"The world of reality has its limits; the world of imagination is boundless." -J.J. Rousseau

"Carpe Diem"

Khaled Shaheen:

In his stay at HGS Khaled Shaheen was nothing short of a perfect gentleman. Khaled became famous, for his superior organizational skills, flawless study techniques, and his classic smile that would span from ear to ear. This legendary smile would often light up his face, at the conclusion of an argument he had just won, however despite his vast realm of knowledge Khaled never let this impede his inquisitive nature that was always accompanied by an appreciated open mindedness. Included in his list of interests were his unique musical interests. Though secretive Khaled revealed his interest on the train to Quebec where he could be seen strolling down the aisles to his very groovy Arabic tunes. Khaled also added to his diversity as an HGS student in his knowledge of martial arts and for this reason he was both feared and rarely attacked by HGS hooligans. Khaled is well equipped to face the awaiting outside world, settle down Khaled and good luck!

Michael Smith:

Mike and HGS had to put up with each other right from the beginning. Although the HGS roller coaster was filled with ups and downs, it was altogether an interesting with a little nausea. The widely outspoken Grammar school veteran always made sure to put everyone in their place. But he did manage to make the Grammar school experience more enjoyable for everyone around him. He was definitely a memorable athlete of our class of 2000. He enjoyed success at a National level in swimming, made his mark at National and International lifeguard competitions as well as being invited to try out for the Canadian National Lifesaving team for the Sydney 2000 Olympics. Without a doubt, Mike has many great years of success ahead of him.

"Courage is not the absence of fear, it's the triumph over it." –Nelson Mandela

"Following the path of least resistance is what makes the river crooked." –Utah Phillips

Jason Stone:

How was your weekend Jason? Jason became a member of the Grammar community in grade 11, where he immediately made his presence known...to some more than others. In grade 12, Jason could often be seen sucking up to teachers because as he said "I've gotta get good marks this year man!" Even though Jason rarely hung out with Grammar School students he was well liked by all for his harsh, honest comments. Have fun next year down under, and good luck in the following years at university. So Jason, how was lunch on Friday? OOOOOHHH Jason!

"Those who like it like it a lot." –Alexander Keith

Heather Stovell:

Heather came to HGS in grade 10, and none of us have been the same since. Heather's outgoing personality and "interesting" sense of humor have made her a vital member of the grade 12 class. Heather will be remembered for her contributions to the senior girls soccer team as goalie. Starting in grade 11, we were able to watch her progress from the beginning to the end of a game. It is interesting what you learn about a person when you are on a team and travel with them. For example, Heather likes people to lock her in the bathroom, in the dark. When she takes a shower. Did I mention she has a good sense of humor? Heather has also taught us all how to have fun...Quebec...need I say more? Words of advice for the future: "That one's mine!" And always watch out because "Look, it's going backwards!" Heather, you will be missed- good luck and have fun!

Andrew Teehan:

Who is this guy?

"Veni, Vidi, Vici" –J. Caesar

"Please accept my resignation. I don't want to belong to any club that will accept me as a member." –Groucho Marx

Charlie Underwood:

Charlie plans to proceed directly from high school to the WCW where he will wrestle under the alias "Goldilocks the Red-eyed Terminator." Failing that he will probably do the whole university thing, and provided he doesn't die of cirrhosis of the liver, grow up to raise obnoxious, curly haired kids somewhere. Cheers!

*There once was a boy with long hair
That caused all the girlies to stare
He trimmed it right down
To bring them around
And now he gets quite a share –Teehan*

Eric Wong:

Eric is one of the more recent additions to the school community, escaping "the institution" three years ago. His various academic achievements include winning the coveted "who can make Khaled laugh in less than ten seconds" award decisively. Many would call him a gifted artist, and his vast base of information on comics ("they're called graphic novels, idiot" -Eric) seems to grow by the week. While art is one of his strongest points, Eric is unsure of what to do with his future, but he would surely succeed in any field, (Guesses range from corporate graphic design to funny books. When asked about his plans, the only thing discernable was a muffled "money...".) Nevertheless, we can be sure that his spontaneous wit and instantaneous creativity will carry him far, as they have made him many friends over the years. We can safely say, without a doubt, they do not come much...stranger than him. You would do well to watch him in the future, if not for your own protection, than because he's sure to go far.

"To do is to be." -Descartes

"To be is to do." -Voltaire

"Do be do be do." -Frank Sinatra

William Wong:

The best way to summarize this diverse gentleman is to say that William operates in a world of his own. Willy Wong is by far one of the brightest male presences in the school, he can be heard from miles away when he understands last night's homework. William became famous at Grammar for all the souvenirs from the previous day's bike expedition he would display on his well-sculpted legs. Though it is obvious his primary love is biking, William played critical roles on all the sports teams during his lengthy stay at Grammar. On the court no one knew where he was going and he often lead those who tried to guard him if he knew where he was going. Will definitely knows where he is going in life this is obvious through his consistently exceptional academic performance. Where ever you go Will remember Ms. H is waiting for the big Willie Style.

"Even a fool knows you can't touch the stars, but it doesn't stop a wise man from trying." - Harry Anderson

"Life is pleasant. Death is peaceful. It's the transaction that's troublesome." - Isaac Asima

"I am not young enough to know everything." - Oscar Wilde

George Zakher:

George entered our class in grade four, with aspirations of being a physical comedian. Since then, Georgie boy has kept us laughing with him and at him. He has had an illustrious academic career Grammar, I have never met someone with such a love for math class. George was also an excellent philosophy student, never actually attending TOK, but managing to spend countless hours in Mr. Marchand's office contemplating on the finer points of life. As for athletics there was never a team George didn't play on, whether he was leading the basketball team in steals, defending and striking in soccer or leading HGS to the provincials in track George did it all. He is also unarguably the fastest man to ever walk down the halls at HGS. George will excel in whatever business venture he chooses. Good Luck George and A GOONY-GOO-GOO.

HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE

At the first all-school assembly this year I suggested that this, the first year of a new century, be called the Year of the Risk. I went on to explain that I hoped students would challenge themselves by taking on all manner of new experiences and seizing opportunities that allow them to grow and also enrich their life at the Halifax Grammar School. I have always felt that both school and university can be either tedious or exhilarating depending on the personal investment you make in both. So I am gratified to see many students this year plunging into such an array of diverse challenges in and outside the school.

Our Coffee House initiative is one example where students including, those two comedians, Jamie Lo and Matt Boyle, displayed performing talents that only their mothers knew they possessed. Quynn Morehouse plunged into snow boarding and took this new passion all the way to the national level of competition. Ashleigh McKenna hesitated briefly and then committed to an intense Tier 1 basketball challenge which sees her graduating with the memory of a provincial championship. Seniors James Bryson, Craig Oliver and Adam Digby voted to try Tier 1 provincial soccer competition only to fail to qualify. Bouncing back in basketball they will graduate with the memories of a hard fought provincial basketball title. The Prep School choir ventured into the Kiwanis music festival competition. Martin Mallet tried his hand at debating and earned a spot on the provincial team going to nationals. Alexandra Seay initiated a senior student dramatic venture in the broader community founding the Student Professional Theatre Company. Head Boy and Head Girl, Andrew Teehan and Elizabeth Dodds, took the lesson learned from a not too successful first dance into two outstanding dances and thus started the tradition of HGS hosting our own dances which could be both artistic and organizational triumphs. The indefatigable Heather Michael hoped to raise $200 with her Pennies for Beds fundraising program and then raised over $500 through her inspirational work with the House Captains. These are but a few examples of what has been a truly exciting year of student risk taking.

To our Senior students - thanks for the many exhilarating memories and the examples you set - and remember that life in those huge university communities you will go on to can be just as rewarding - just remember the truth of that old aphorism that time once lost can never be recaptured!

John Messenger

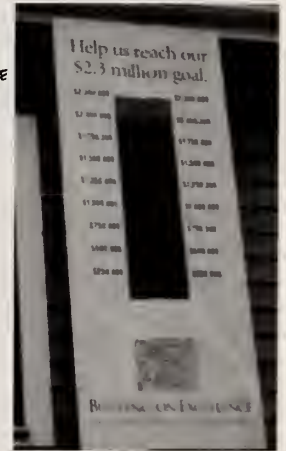

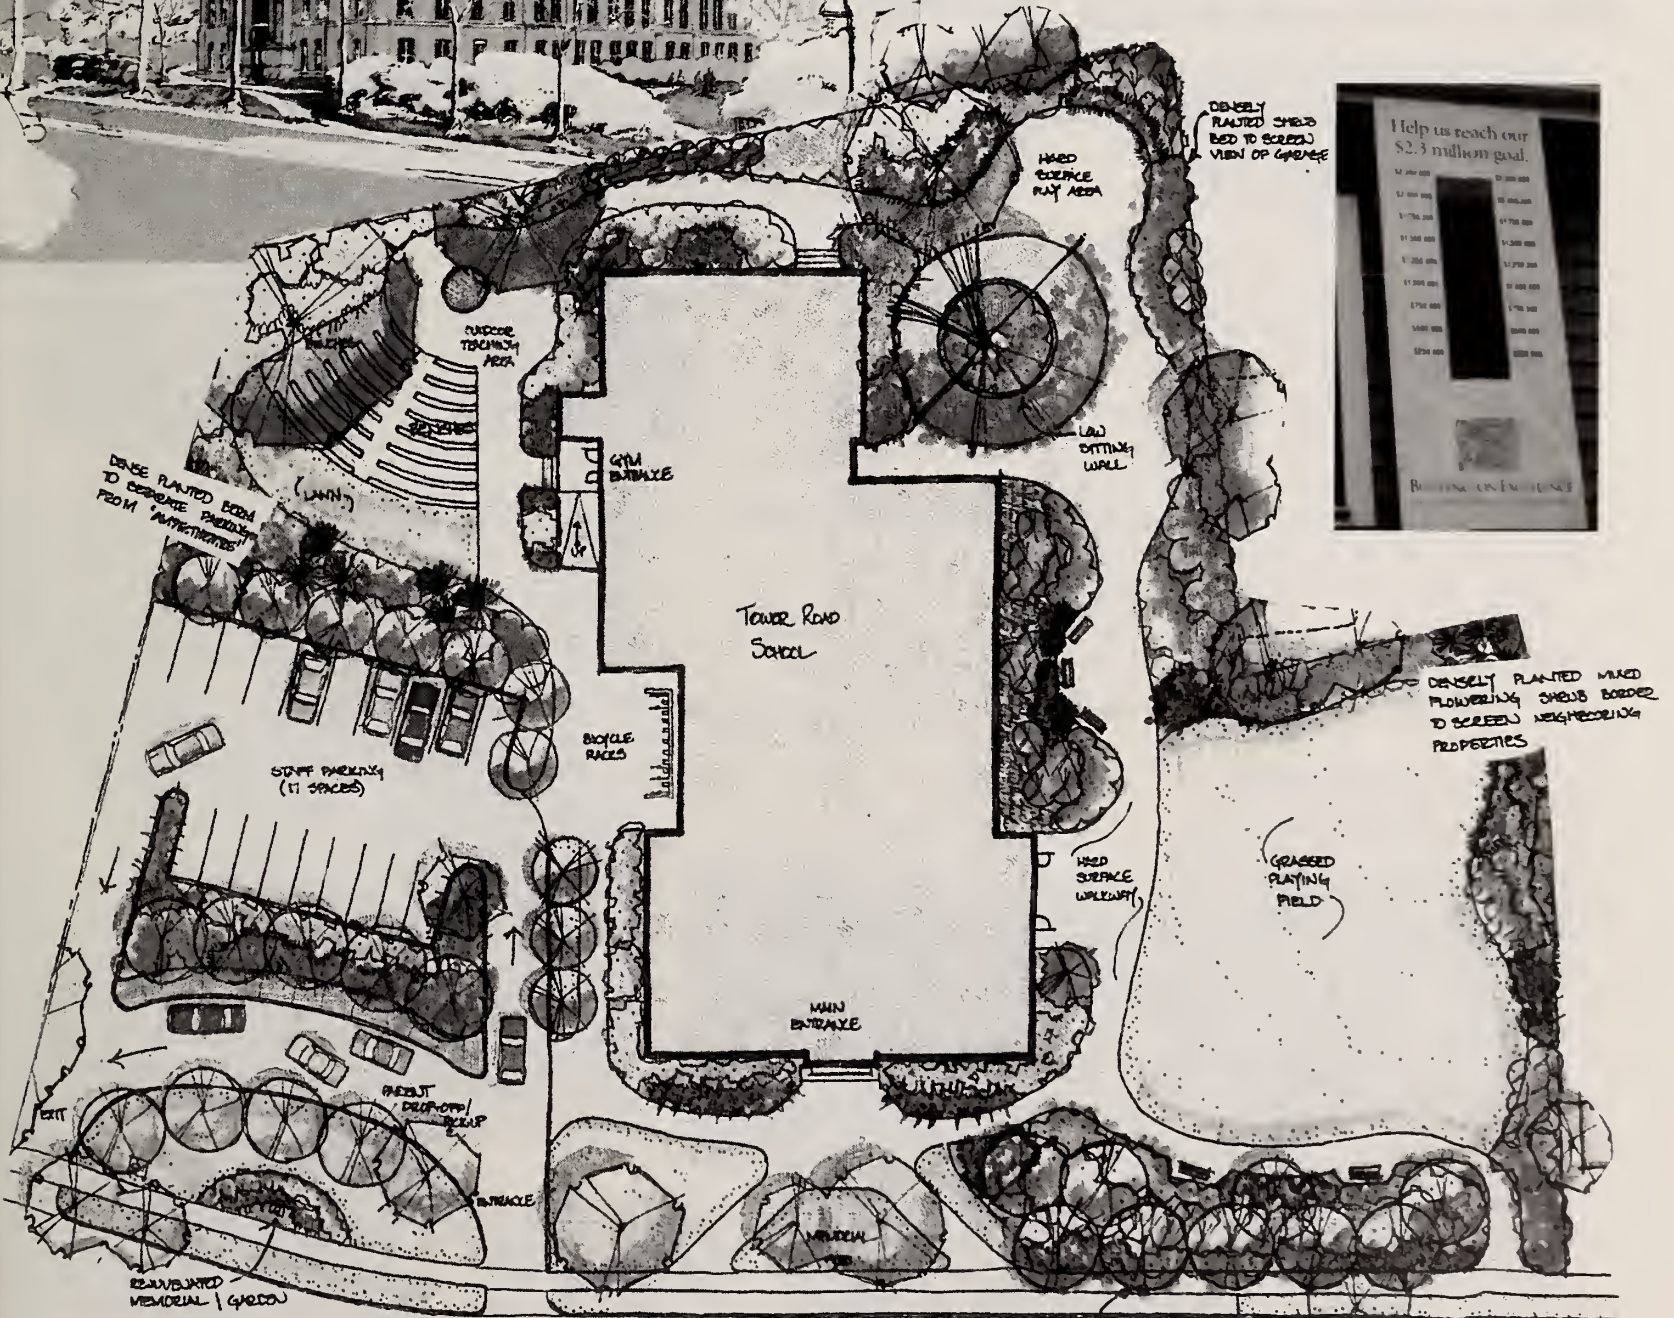

DEDICATION

The yearbook staff would like to dedicate this millennium yearbook to the tireless work of The Capital Campaign. Their dedication to their task brings us a stronger and larger community on our new campus - Tower Road. Thanks for all the hard work you have done for the school.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Okay...so here it is, cut, pasted and perfected...well kinda. We had lots of laughs and fun besides the DEADLINES, and the fact that four best friends should never work together. By far, the hardest thing was the camera shy teachers (there were more staff doors slammed in our faces when we were holding a camera than we had ever expected.) Hope you enjoy this book as much as we enjoyed making it. We're sorry that not all of the end of the year events got published, but deadlines, deadlines, deadlines!! We wanted to get it into your hands by graduation. Thanks to everyone who helped us put names to faces, take pictures and much more especially our wonderful yearbook Supervisor, Ms. Silver, who put up with everything imaginable. Thanks again, have a wonderful summer and we hope to see you all soon.
